AN EXPERT IN POLITICS AND INTERESTING FAMILY

MR. AND MRS. BEN MARSHALL AND THEIR THIRTEEN CHILDREN.

BIG BATTLE IS ON FOR KENTUCKY PIE

Secretary McAdoo and Ollie James at Odds Over Revenue Collectorship.

LATTER'S CANDIDATE HAS A FAMILY OF THIRTEEN

Wilson's "Lucky Number" May Win for Ben Marshall Over Desha Breckinridge.

The biggest whirlpool of internal strife in the patronage department of the democratic party just at this moment centers around Ben Marshall of Kentucky. Senator Ollie James recommended Marshall to Secretary McAdoo of the Treasury as collector of internal revenue in the seventh district of Kentucky. Secretary McAdoo has another candidate in mind and the fight is terrific.

"Beats Joe Tumulty."

The first thing the politicians say when they hear about Ben Marshall's thirteen children is: "Why, he beats Joe Tumulty, doesn't he?"

Mr. Tumulty's seven little Tumultys seem like a quiet pair of twins compared to Marshall's mammoth organization of juniors.

Busy Now Pulling Strings.

Although Mr. Marshall is thoroughly devoted to his family, just now he is spending considerable time pulling strings in the political game.

Senator Ollie James recommended him to Secretary McAdoo for the five-thousand-dollar position of collector of internal revenue. James' followers, knowing that the senator had been a radical democrat of long standing, had been chairman at the Baltimore convention and had never been a machine politician, believed that the recommendation would go through without question.

Wilson's Favorite Number.

However, Ben Marshall smiles and points to his thirteen children and says: "thirteen is President Wilson's favorite number."

CLUB WOMAN'S COUNCIL TO MEET NEXT WEEK

Central Body of General Federation to Hold Four-Day Session Here.

Arrangements have been made for a meeting of the Council of the General Federation of Women's Clubs in this city next week as the guests of the District of Columbia Federation. This is the first general meeting of the federation ever held in Washington. The meetings will begin next Monday, and close Thursday, with a day in Baltimore as the guests of the Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs.

Reception at Raleigh.

The opening meeting will be in the auditorium of the National Museum, Monday evening at 8 o'clock, followed at 9:30 o'clock by a reception in the ballroom of the Raleigh Hotel, when the District of Columbia Federation of Women's Clubs invites the public of Washington, and particularly all club women, to meet the officers of the general federation.

Tuesday morning the first business session will be held at the Raleigh, which will be headquarters during the council. At 2:30 o'clock that afternoon the club women who have registered and received badges will be received at the White House, and at 4:30 o'clock they will visit the Corcoran Gallery of Art.

Officers Here.

Mrs. William E. Andrews is president of the District of Columbia Federation of Women's Clubs, and has as her headquarters for the council Mrs. Kelly of North Carolina, the recording secretary of the general federation.

Strikers in Belgium

NUMBER OVER 350,000

Union Printers to Quit Work Tomorrow, Crippling the Publication Offices.

BRUSSELS, Belgium, April 18.—The strike of all the union printers here tomorrow will bring home to residents of the Belgian capital the effects of the great national strike far more forcibly than the crippling of industry in other parts of the country had done.

But Few Disturbances Noted.

The socialist leaders have generally succeeded in keeping their followers well in hand and have prevailed on them to continue passive. Only in a few instances have disturbances occurred and these of a minor character.

In the industrial province of Hainaut a few have returned to work, but the number of accessions to the strike movement fully balances the defections.

INJURED IN FIRE DRILL.

Youth Falls From Steamer Into Boat When Rope Slips.

While participating in a fire drill aboard the steamer Three Rivers, at the foot of L street southwest, about noon today, Joseph Ammond, twenty years old, sustained a severe injury to his side as a result of the slipping of a rope. He was thrown against the side of the steamer and fell into a lifeboat. Ammond was taken to Emergency Hospital.

WILSONS RECEIVE COUNCIL OF WOMEN

Delegates Attending Convention in Capital Call at White House.

PROTRACTED DEBATE DELAYS ADJOURNMENT

Business of Organization Will Be Completed After Meeting Tonight at Alexandria.

President and Mrs. Wilson this afternoon received at the White House the members of the National Council of Women, who are holding their convention in this city.

Protracted discussion of propositions which came before it made it impossible to conclude the business of the convention this morning, and will necessitate carrying it over until after the public meeting in Alexandria tonight.

Debated by Paragraphs.

The propositions were debated paragraph by paragraph, and consumed practically the whole morning session. The program called for action on proposed changes in the plan of work of the council, the matter of representation at the Panama-Pacific exposition in 1915, and the matter of representation of the National Council at a joint meeting of that body with the National Federation of Women's Clubs at the Raleigh Hotel tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

House Fly a Menace.

The common house fly is a big menace to the life of an infant, according to Miss Julia Lathrop, chief of the children's bureau, who was speaking last night before the National Council of Women, at their session in Alexandria, Va.

After declaring that twice as many infants die as should, Miss Lathrop asserted that the common house fly was largely responsible for the destruction of infant lives. "Good sanitation in the home," she said, "is not as common as it is generally supposed, she declared, and many American mothers neglect the simplest dictates of hygiene."

Registration of Births.

Explaining the laxity in many of the country's municipalities in the recording of births and keeping other vital statistics, the chief of the children's bureau told her audience that it was one of the chief objects of her bureau to overcome irregularity in the registration of births.

DROP FIGHT ON RAILWAY

Silver Spring Citizens Win Concessions From Street Car Company.

The citizens of Silver Spring, Md., and the Washington Railway and Electric Company have compromised their differences, with the result that the interstate commerce commission, today dismissed a case pending before it. The citizens sought to have the commutation rates lowered and the cash fare between the District line and Silver Spring abolished. New rates established by the railway as a result of the compromise will become effective next Sunday.

Dr. Llewellyn Jordan, who represented the citizens before the commission, declared today that the most important concession which the railway company made was an agreement to sell commutation books good for one year, and which could be used by all members of the family. This book will cost $3.90, and will contain tickets for sixty one-way rides.

Heretofore, according to Dr. Jordan, the citizens were compelled to pay $3.50 for a book good for fifty-six one-way rides. It could only be used by the person purchasing the same, and was good for only one month whether the tickets were used or not. The railway company also agreed to put the commutation books on sale at Silver Spring instead of only in the center of the city.

The company also has agreed, Dr. Jordan said, to give the people along the line an express service to the heart of the city, and will also construct a fire-proof waiting station at Silver Spring.

Dr. Jordan declared that in view of the present concessions of the railway company, it had been decided not to push the complaint for the abolishment of the cash fare between the District line and Silver Spring.

The complaint was filed last September and several hearings had been held by the commission on the matter.

The eighty-seventh annual stated meeting of the Presbytery of New Castle, which has been in session at Elkton, Md., has adjourned.
